

Stories of Love

.

Size: 74" x 93"

Time taken: 4 months

.

Made entirely of little Zhara's clothes - a quilt for her grandparents. This quilt is a celebration of intergenerational love; the priceless bond of a grandchild with her fun-loving grandparents; and the unconditional love of parents who made this quilt possible.

.

So grateful to Zhara's parents for trusting me with this project, by giving me complete freedom to design without any time constraints... but above all, thank you to them for sharing those lovely stories: of their parents, Zhara's bond with them, and their love for animals - all of which helped drive the design for this quilt.

.

I have had so much fun making this precious piece. Endless gratitude.

.

The quilt blocks are detailed using the running-stitch - a traditional hand-quilting technique, reminiscent of the hand embroidery on Sindhi rallis - that binds the two cotton layers into a cohesive whole.

.

Lightweight (two-layered) patchwork quilt /

Hand quilted and Machine stitched

Made entirely with little Zhara's clothes - aged 5 and below

Multipurpose and versatile

.

Please DM me for inquiries